THE PINK ISSUE

PARLIAMENT MEETS FOR SECOND TIME

Ivan Bumovitch Brought to Trial

CONSERVATIVES.

Present Government Remains in Power

Last evening saw the second sitting of the Mock Parliament, which this time opened with a record membership in attendance.

The speaker of the House announced that the first item to come before the house had reference to its privileges, namely, one Ivan Bumovitch, charged with uttering slanderous charges against certain of the members of the Government, was to be therewith brought to trial. Ivan Bumovitch was thereupon at the request of the Speaker brought before the House. A plea on behalf of the accused that an interpreter be sworn in—the accused speaking no word of English—was immediately granted. The Chief Councillor being acquainted with the Russian language, is appointed counsel for the accused. The Sergeant of the House thereupon proceeded with the swearing in of both councillor and accused.

At the request of the Speaker the clerk of the House proceeded to read the accusation launched by said Ivan Bumovitch against the present party in power, which in part reads as follows: "What has the Constitutional Government done for the people? Nothing. What has it done for itself? Everything. It is a well known fact that several members of the Government are notorious bootleggers, and are piling up fortunes through this illicit traffic. Other members of the Constitutional party have been accepting bribes, and have openly promised to make all their friends either sewer inspectors or dog-catchers."

"It is also well known that the late lamented Aunt Kurrie, whose column in the Daily was so eagerly followed, rejected the amorous advances of many members of the Government, and it is certain that quite a number of these members, including the Prime Minister, know more about the murder of this personage than they are willing to say."

The counsel was then called upon to explain the purport of this article as appearing in the Daily of January 30. The handuffs on the accused being removed at the suggestion of the counsel to enable greater freedom of speech, the accused admitted that he was himself the author of said article.

The Premier, the Rt. Honorable V. Barris thereupon demanded the names of the honorable members of the Government referred to in this article, said article in its statements having cast

R.V.C. ASPIRE TO HONOURS IN BASKETBALL

Varsity and Queen's Here
This Month

SECOND MEET

Games to Be Played in Convocation Hall at R.V.C.

The Women's Intercollegiate Basketball League meet has been arranged to take place in Montreal during the last week in February. The opening game will be played on Thursday February 22, between McGill and Queens; Varsity will play Queens on Friday, and the meet will conclude with a match between Varsity and McGill on Saturday. Varsity has accepted these arrangements, and it is expected that Queens will do likewise.

For two years the Women's Intercollegiate Basketball League has been in existence and both seasons Varsity carried off the championship. It is hoped that with the advantage of playing on the home ground that McGill will be capable of putting up a good fight for it this year.

Last year the two teams met in a friendly game at Toronto, and the representatives of McGill, namely, the pick of the R.V.C. and M.S.P.E. teams were defeated. Shortly after this game the School of Practical Science of Toronto University donated the William Beattie Ramsey Cup, to be competed for annually in the Women's Intercollegiate Hockey League, which had been, in the meantime, formed. It may be added that William Beattie Ramsey was the captain of the Varsity team which won the Allen Cup and is now their coach.

The R.V.C. girls are going into the game this year resolved to bring the trophy, which is now resting in a glass case at Hart House, Toronto, to Montreal. The task will not be easy, for Toronto is a very strong team, and the R.V.C. girls are going to give them a hard fight.

Tickets for the Union House Football will go on sale at one o'clock to-day. The price of the ticket is $5.

HOCKEY GAME PROMISES TO BE BEST YET

McGill to Play Blue and White

FOURTH I.H.A. GAME

Hockey Enthusiasts Cheerful
Over Game Tonight

What promises to be one of the most closely contested matches of the season in the Intercollegiate Hockey Association is scheduled to take place tonight in the Mount Royal Arena. McGill and Varsity, always the greatest of rivals, meet in their initial encounter. Overtime periods and close play have been the outstanding features of games thus far and it is expected that tonight's game will prove no exception.

Coach Shaughnessy and the McGill sextette have devoted a great deal of time and energy to the correction of weaknesses which they displayed in the last match. The team shows a marked improvement in both individual and team work, and especially in shooting.

The Toronto forward line, Carson, Hudson and Westman, is considered to be perhaps the finest in the I. H. A., but should find a match in Flanagan, Morrison and McNaughton.

Flanagan is well known to all followers of sport at McGill, and can always be relied upon to give an outstanding exhibition of hockey. Morrison and McNaughton have both proved their places by their excellent exhibition since the beginning of the season.

The Varsity defence is considered the weakest point of the whole team, while the McGill veterans, Dempsey and McGerrigle, form an almost impenetrable barrier. These two, combined with Morris, the McGill goalie, should prove equal to any onslaughts from the famous Varsity forwards.

Judging by the close scores of the preceding matches, McGill should have a fair chance of winning, and removing Varsity from her position as top of the league. However, whatever the outcome may be, the McGill sextette is confident that the struggle will be close, and well worth witnessing.

Not only will a large number of rooters (a veritable thundering thousand) be present, under the able leadership of "Nuts" Nutting, but it is expected that the famous Rooters' Band will be there to add to the festivity of the occasion. R.V.C., it is expected, will also send a large delegation.

ADDRESS ON NEW TYPE OF TRACTOR

Science Men to Hear Dr.
Porter and Mr. Innes

The executive of the Science Undergraduate Society wishes to announce that an illustrated talk on a new feature in transportation will be given this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Room 33 Engineering Bldg. Dr. Porter of the Mining Department has very kindly consented to exhibit a moving picture film of a new type of tractor at work. The tractor is of the tank type and presents many new features from many standpoints. Mr. Lones of the Musson Company has also consented to give an explanatory talk on the subject and to answer any questions which may be put to him. The executive sincerely hopes that all Science men who can will attend as it cannot be expected that men from the industries will take an interest in the Science Faculty if the undergraduates do not first show their willingness to learn. An appreciative audience whenever industrial men come to McGill will do much to smooth the path of new graduates when they come to the point of obtaining employment after graduation.

THE MOCK PARLIAMENT

The session of the Mock Parliament held last night, while numerically inferior to its predecessor of a few months ago, was from the point of view of interest evinced in the proceedings by those attending, as well as from that of opportunity of serious consideration upon a subject admitting of humorous treatment, certainly the equivalent of that which has gone before. Some quite commendable efforts were made in the way of public speaking and many were offered, and accepted the privilege of expressing their views upon the floor of the House; and after all this should be the main purpose of such a gathering. Encouragement of those who are inclined to speak should be the aim and achievement of any such assemblage at college. It is worthy of notice that the trend of the programme, while in the beginning decidedly of a farcical nature, remained so only for a limited period and the speeches, after the first half-hour, became definitely more sober; the introduction served its end in creating an atmosphere of concern amongst the crowd.

STUDENTS OF MCGILL

This Pink Issue is produced by "the women students of McGill". That is an expression to which we are now becoming accustomed, though it has but recently come into use.

In the early days of our University women were as strictly excluded from it as from all institutions of learning at the time. During the principality of Sir William Dawson women were first given admission to courses of lectures on academic subjects; and later allowed to take courses leading to a B.A. degree. This was through the benevolence of Lord Strathcona, who founded the Donalds Settlement in 1887. The "Donalds", as the women students were then called, were to pass the same examinations and gain the same B.A. degree as men, but they were to be "a separate college of McGill University", in a separate building and "taking a distinct course in the Faculty of Arts". This meant that all lectures were repeated, because women were not allowed to attend lectures with men. Social events were very infrequent and painfully "like a Quaker meeting". The Donalds were looked upon by the men as freaks.

Later, the name "Donalds" gradually fell into disuse, and the "students of the Royal Victoria College" gradually became larger in number and broader in outlook. Occasionally they were invited to a Sunday Sing, or a Skating or Snowshoe Party or a Dance. And the members of the upper years were allowed to attend lectures with the men of Arts.

In 1919 the R.V.C. students first organized as rooters under a cheer-leader, wore red tams, and marched with the rooters to the rugby games. That year, also, the Sings were opened to the R.V.C. students. The little rink behind the college did not appear, thus ending the exclusive skating of the residents. In this year ago, from the two separate organizations, the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. grew the S.C.M. with much stronger co-operation and unity between the men and women.

On the "Daily", too, the women students had been slowly progressing. When, by the courtesy of the men, the women first began to contribute to the college paper, they had a definite space to which they were confined, and this was symbolic of their general hemmed-in condition, for which they were largely themselves to blame, but which was only, after all, a natural stage in their development. The courtesy of the men continued and increased and allowed the R.V.C. to grow beyond their former narrow confines and begin to send in news to the "Daily" offices, though the write-ups broke all the rules of journalism and had to be corrected and given headlines by the men. Thanks to the help of the "Daily" editors and the addresses of newspapermen which were thrown open to women interested in newspaper work, contributions from the women are now usually ready to go to press when they leave the R.V.C., and a happy spirit of co-operation prevails.

During this last session "the students of the R.V.C." have been meeting with women of other faculties and departments than Arts, and they all now feel themselves to be united as the "women students of McGill", soon to be officially united in a Women's Society. The women students have broken down the fence about them, the braces of which the men on their side have removed, and are now in a larger field of the University. Few, if any, lectures in Arts are given separately to men and women. Several of the sectional clubs now have ladies on their membership. Many of the academic societies, such as the Psychological Society, are open to women. Women have also entered the realm of intercollegiate athletics and will play McGill teams in basketball and hockey. Most social activities today are for men and women. In social and academic life and in the various activities of the University women are now taking their place with men as students of McGill.

TORONTO TO PLAY

R.V.C. IN HOCKEY

send down a strong team; furthermore a clause in the constitution bars the M.S.P.E. from competing in Intercollegiate Hockey and this cuts down to a certain extent the material from which a team could be made. However, Coach Shaughnessy has some promising material and an invincible team may yet result, despite the fact that it is almost impossible to get three-fourths, let alone all, of the team out at the same day and hour to practice, due to conflicting time-tables. Queen's have not yet entered a team in the league, so that the game here the last week of February will settle the championship for this year.

EXAMINATION ANSWERS

What would you do if you felt faint in church? Put your head between your knees and walk out.
What did David say when he heard of the death of Absalom? He said, "Absalom, Absalom, my son," and rented him a suit of clothes.
What did Solomon do at the dedication of the Temple? He had a good time with the Queen of Sheba.
Who wrote the Acts? John H. Roberts, and he's doing time for it.
Repeat the last verse of the Twenty-Third Psalm. Surely Goodwin's and Murphy's will follow me all the days of my life and I shall dwell with the cows of the Lord forever.

MCGILL OUT TO WIN IN BASKETBALL

Senior Basketball Team Play Queen's Tomorrow

IN KINGSTON

Manson, Crain and Mendelsohn All in Top Form

The third game in the Intercollegiate basketball series will take place at Kingston on Saturday. This game promises to be of exceptional interest, owing to the fact that in order to get into a play-off the team must win every game yet to be played in the Intercollegiate League. Queen's met defeat at the hands of Toronto two weeks ago, and inasmuch as Toronto has already won two of the games of the series, one from Queen's and again at the first fixture with McGill last Saturday, the team will make every effort to gain a victory tomorrow to insure a league standing for this season.

The final practice which was held in the High School Gymnasium on Wednesday has put the squad in good physical shape for the game. Final details as to the system of play to be employed by the team during tomorrow's game have also been put forward and developed during this final work-out at which, in conjunction with the practice held on Tuesday, efforts were made to remedy the faults which were noticeable in the recent game. The Queen's team will doubtless be in their best form as it will be necessary for them to win this game if they are going to gain the chance to play in the final game for the Intercollegiate title. A greater incentive is offered to the Queen's team in that, having already won the Rugby championship, they are naturally anxious to add to their laurels.

Attention was devoted in the Tuesday practice to obtaining better shooting, and good results are expected. More work has been done on the offensive than on the defensive branch of the team, as the former department showed greater weakness than the latter in the Toronto game. The result of the game nevertheless will in all probability depend on the speed with which either team sets out to play, and whether that speed can be maintained.

The team will leave on Saturday morning for Kingston. The same men will make the trip as have been playing on the Senior squad throughout this season, six of whom played on the Senior squad of last year. Manson, the captain of the team and a leading man in Canadian Intercollegiate Basketball circles, will occupy his usual position at centre. Eddie Crain, who plays an excellent running guard game and is a dependable shot, will also appear on the squad. Amaron and Turpel, the former a very strong guard and the latter one of the speediest men on the team, will be in their usual form. Little, one of the men who has for some time occupied a position on the Intercollegiate team, but who played only toward the end of the game with Toronto, will be out with the team. He is one of the steadiest players on the squad. Mendelsohn, star forward of last year's team, is to be depended upon to aid the Red and White. Hilton and Blumenstein will be seen on defence. They are both seasoned players in basketball. Manager Eddie and Coach Van Wagner will also make the trip with the squad. Since on this game rests the hope of getting into the play-off, every effort is being put forward by the team to be in top form for Saturday's game.

GRADUATION COMMITTEE.

Meeting of Senior Class Committee on Monday, February 5th, in the Music Room of the Union. All members of the committee are particularly requested to be present. The advisability of putting on a Senior Play is to be discussed. Each Senior Class must send two representatives to make arrangements for photographs to Notman's not later than Saturday, the third.

ARTS '24 HOCKEY.

Practice today, 4.15 to 5.15 on the Men's Rink. Everybody out. The new hours are this time Mondays and Fridays from now on.

INDOOR BASEBALL.

The schedule for the semi-finals of the Interclass Indoor Baseball League is as follows:
Monday, Feb. 5th—Med. '26 vs. Med. '25.

Tuesday, Feb. 6th—Comm. '23 vs. Arts '26.

These games will take place at the Baron Byng School at 6 o'clock on the dates mentioned.

ALL STARS ARTS HOCKEY.

There will be a practice of the All Stars Hockey team at five o'clock today on the Campus Rink.

MCGILL-VARSITY GAME.

Tickets for the McGill-Varsity game will go on sale in R.V.C. at noon to-day. All rooters out!

ECHOES FROM TORONTO

We hear a lot of Toronto debates, Discussions and meetings and also of dates, But we hear very little of just what went on When discussions were over and every-one gone

When back to our rooms in Queen's Park we did stray; At what hours we arrived—I really can't say.

Any time after ten our fun would begin, Our noise overshadowed a Lizzie of tin. What could one expect from the ten R. V. C. ettes—

Sophs, Juniors and Seniors acting just like Freshettes. One evening we gathered to welcome our friend, The Sultan of Turkey, with a lamp-shade on end.

In his Turkish guise, he felt quite at home, Indeed his least desire was to roam. That very same evening—or rather that night,

We divided six apples, so each had a bite. Six among ten requires a division, Rather difficult to work, and lacking precision.

A prominent member of Arts '24, Made the famous Pavlova seem like a bore, At our special request she gave toe Elf Dance—

By the time she had finished we felt in a trance. An embryo lawyer of coming fame Gave us five lectures on how to declaim, She chose as her subjects Psych., English and Art

She held us so spellbound we could not depart. Another nice member, with little to say, Just wished "she could sit 'n sit all day!"

In a "mouse" chair, by a re, I suppose, Why she wanted that well, nobody knows! New Year's Eve we journeyed to Annesley Hall

Over ice, which caused us to fall, Once there, however, were given cake, Delicious cake, D.C.'s mother did make. Over toast and cocoa when the New Year came in,

Half of our number made a terrible din. One girl, whose name sometimes comes out as "Maisey" Giggled so much, I thought she was crazy!

Another night our performance was graced, By Mary Pickford, who considering our taste Gave us a demonstration fine

Of what would be worn in the millinery line. Still another evening—you know there were five—

A noise almost frightened us out of our lives, Loud whistling and then a thud of snow, Landed close to the window—so we did know

Two Maritime people could not get in, (To say out so late, we thought was a sin.) The evening before we left to come home,

I found that Palmer's was not alone In the new art of hairdressing—rather I'd say, That any girl should she wish to look gay

May obtain a "coiffure" like Lila Lee From the Conference delegates at the R. V. C.

This is indeed a very short sketch Of the hours which over midnight did stretch, But it shows at least that our "nice quiet rooms,"

Were not as quiet as ancient tombs— In fact there was chatting, laughter, and fun Every night in the week 'till our was done.

LA CO-ED SANS MERCI.

(With apologies to Mr. Keats.)
O what can ail thee, student pale!
Alone and shivering in the snow!
The hollows covered o'er with ice,
And no flowers blow.

O what can ail thee, student pale!
So languid and so woe-begone?
The crowds have melted from the hall,
And the lecture's done.

I see a wrinkle on thy brow,
A dazed look within thine eyes,
And on thy cheeks, beneath the tan
A pallor kiss.

I met a co-ed at a hall,
With teasing eyes and twinkling feet,
Her hair was bobbed, her form was slight,
And her smile full sweet.

I bought her roses for her gown,
And sweet meats too—asked her to dance,
She looked at me as she did care,
With long, long glance.

I took her skiing 'neath the moon,
There was the earth a paradise,
For oft times would she fall and I
Would help her rise.

She gave me rich ambrosia,
And nectar sweet—some called it tea!
And with those dark, dark eyes she said—
"I love but thee."

She led me to a dim-lit nook,
And there she sat, and gazed on me,
And there I gave her all my heart
With kisses three.

I saw my friends as in a dream,
Vague shadowy forms with faces set;
They cried—"La co-ed sans merci
Will fool thee yet!"

I saw their pitying looks, their lips
Shape warnings as they sighed,
And I awoke and found me here;
They had not lied.

And this is why I linger on,
Alone and shivering in the snow,
Tho' the hollows covered o'er with ice
And no flowers blow.

SONG OF THE CO-ED.

(Tune: I'm a little Prairie Flower.)

I'm a little Freshette green,
Cutest thing that e'er was seen;
No one ever flirts with me—
I'm as green as I can be.

I'm a haughty Sophomore,
Full of facts and crammed with lore;
No one ever contradicts me—
I'm as right as right can be.

I'm a Junior, wild and gay,
Doing nothing all the day;
No one ever worries me—
I'm as lively as can be.

I'm a Senior, grave and stern,
Nothing's left for me to learn;
No one ever puzzles me—
I'm as wise as I can be.

"HINDUISM" SUBJECT OF MUCH INTEREST

Hinduism was the subject of discussion in the group on Comparative Religions, under the leadership of Mr. Otto Klineberg which was held last night. This group is an outgrowth of the National Conference in Toronto and to judge by the number desiring to attend, and the interest shown, promises to be a most interesting one.

A talk on Hinduism was given by Mr. Nandahl, in which he outlined the main features of Hindu philosophy from early times. The Hindus, said Mr. Nandahl, are by nature interested in philosophical speculations, and these speculations date back to centuries before the Christian, Jewish and Egyptian eras. The philosophical teachings of the Hindus are handed down not by books, but by tradition and word of mouth. The doctrine of evolution and other philosophical doctrines were known to the Hindus before the so-called civilised nations took up the study of philosophy at all.

To properly understand Hindu philosophy and religion, one must be in sympathy with it. The difference which must be overcome by an outsider is that fundamental difference of the western and Oriental mind, namely that the westerner wishes to publish what he has thought, while the Oriental does not wish to publish this unless he can put it into practice.

Buddha, the founder of Hindu religion, is looked upon as a great leader, occupying a somewhat similar position in the Hindu religion to that which Christ occupies in the Christian religion. Buddha, the son of a king, was early interested in religious questions. Finally, after much speculation, Buddha came to the conclusion that, if ignorance and desire were excluded from the world, all good would come to pass, namely, Nirvana or heaven on earth. According to certain traditions the Hindu originally lived in extreme north and south from whence they came to the plains of India by some sort of earthly convulsion. Sages or wise men appeared who taught since all else in the world is changeable, there must be some unchangeable being. This being, they called Brahma, the only real being in the midst of unreality or illusion. Around this fundamental doctrine grew up the theory of the reincarnation, with the Teachers Defeated M.A.A.A.

Yesterday

In spite of the absence of the captain and the star defence the R.V.C. hockey team succeeded in winning their third game in the series, against the Y. W. C. A., with the score of 3-0. The game from the outset was slower than usual, owing to a heavy snowfall which made it difficult for the players to follow the puck.

Early in the first period Miss Robertson sent a fast shot, which was successfully stopped by the Y. W. C. A. goal. Miss Stocking scored the first goal for R.V.C. on the rebound. The whole team now showed better combination than in their previous games. The forward line consisting of F. Stocking, C. Robertson and H. Marshall made outstanding rushes. F. Stocking scored a second goal for R.V.C., after exceptional stick-handling. In a mix-up in front of the R. V. C. goal, the Y. W. lost an excellent opportunity to score. Freda Kenney, of the Y. W. C. A., made many rushes up the ice, but failed to score, due to the alertness of the defence. Period ended, score 2-0 for R. V. C.

Immediately after the face-off in the second period the puck went up to the Y. W. goal, where Miss Newmark made some excellent saves. Then Miss Kenney received a pass and did her best to score for the Y. W., but Miss Kerr, in the nets, proved too much for her. The back-checking of the defence was outstanding in this period.

L. Bingham replaced H. Marshall in the third period. R. V. C. now played a purely defensive game. C. Robertson and F. Stocking were both outstanding. The Y. W. C. A., however, appeared to be tiring, having played all three periods without substitutes. E. Hutchison replaced F. Stocking for a few minutes. On the latter's return to the ice, the play centred round the Y. W. C. A. goal. R. V. C. now played most of their subs. Towards the end of the period, F. Stocking made a lone rush up the ice, succeeded in eluding the defence, and shot a third goal for R.V.C. When the whistle blew the final score was 3-0 for R. V. C.

The line-up was as follows:

| Y.W.C.A. | R.V.C. |
|-------------|--------------|
| Goal. | |
| G. Newmark | L. Kerr |
| Defence. | |
| I. McKee | R. Grant |
| E. Thomson | E. Campbell |
| Centre. | |
| F. Kenney | F. Stocking |
| Forwards. | |
| M. Rattie | C. Robertson |
| E. Dever | H. Marshall |
| Subs. | |
| C. Franckum | F. Perry |
| | L. Bingham |

Another game of the Montreal Amateur Ladies' Hockey League was also played last night between M.A.A.A. and Teachers. The final score was 2-0 for Teachers.

WREATH ON STATUE OF QUEEN VICTORIA

A wreath may have been noticed lately upon the statue of Queen Victoria, so familiar to all McGill students. On May 24th and January 22nd, a wreath is placed upon this statue and from year to year students have wondered by whom they have been presented.

The explanation is most interesting. The donor is an American lady who resided for some time in Montreal, and who is of strong British sympathies. Twice a year she paid this tribute to the great Queen in token of her admiration. When she returned to the States to live, she made arrangements for the wreaths to be provided, and so they appear with, out a word twice annually, a sign of international friendship.

A note in regard to the statue itself may be opportune. The bronze is cast from the work of the Princess Louise, Marchioness of Lorne, daughter of Queen Victoria and wife of a former Governor General of Canada, and is a replica of the marble seated figure of the youthful Queen, to be seen near the flower garden of Kensington Palace, London.

view that what is done in this life governs the next stage of life. Finally a state of perfection is reached and souls are again united to Brahma from whom they were evolved in the beginning. The aim of the people is to become good.

The Vedas deal with the teachings of the Hindu philosophy, which is the longest book on philosophy in any nation. Pythagoras and Plato derived their philosophy from the same root as the Hindu philosophy.

Mr. Klineberg thanked Mr. Nandahl for his able presentation of the subject. The meeting was then thrown open for discussion, after which the meeting adjourned.

THE BANNER

Every student should see, before leaving McGill, the Banner presented in 1907 to the University by H. M. Queen Alexandra, through His Excellency the Governor-General, the late Earl Grey. The Banner which now hangs in the Convocation Hall at the Royal Victoria College is the work of Mrs. G. F. Watts, widow of the great English painter.

A brief summary of the description given by Earl Grey of the Banner may be given as follows:

The central figure is Our Lady of the Snows and above her head are two guardian spirits holding the great Triple Crown in colours symbolical of Faith, Hope and Love. It is a beautifully jewelled crown and the suggestion which the design conveys is that our Canada—The Lady of the Snows—must grow up to her crown. Thus the central idea of the Banner is the unfolding of Canada and the reaching up towards the attainment of high ideals.

On each side of this figure there is a slight cord suggestive binding together of the maple leaf and the rose. And in a scroll on either side into which the little root filaments of the rose and the maple descend are the words:

"Peace and Growth to her."

"Strength and Worth to her."

These words are translated from a Gaelic blessing.

Then flying like holy doves around the foot and above the way of our Lady of the Snows, are the Seven Gifts of the Spirit:

The Gift of Wisdom, which sees things in their true proportion with truth and with the courage that comes from a right judgment.

The Gift of Piety, opening the eyes to that which is higher than self-interest and inspiring noble self-sacrifice.

The Gift of Strength, which is based on temperance and mastery over self.

The Gift of Comfort, sympathy and service, the special work of the Spirit of God.

The Gift of Understanding, which comes from the light within, revealing the deepest meanings of life.

The Gift of Courage, with its roots in the words "I can," knowledge gained by learning and practice, a gift by the power of which men do their best work, whether they are born to reign through service or to serve through reigning.

And finally, the Gift of Dred or Reverence, which sums of the other six for Reverence makes Wisdom take off her shoes on holy ground; Piety is ennobled by Reverence; Strength is held in check by Reverence; Comfort becomes a consolation by Reverence; Understanding is made higher and wider by Reverence; and Knowledge inspired by Reverence is Praise and Worship. The meetings of Convocation and other gatherings of the University give all students an opportunity of visiting the Royal Victoria College. The Banner is placed in a glass-fronted case near the platform of the Hall, and a copy of Earl Grey's description of the Banner is to be found attached to the case.

INTER-YEAR DEBATE
WON BY SENIORSSmall Colleges Proved to Be More Beneficial

The proposition: "Resolved that small colleges are more beneficial to the average student than large colleges" was supported by the Seniors, and opposed by the Juniors, in the interclass debate of the Delta Sigma Society, which took place yesterday afternoon, and which resulted in the victory of the girls of the fourth year.

Miss Foster, the leader of the affirmative, stated that small colleges were preferable to large because the small classes gave the professor an opportunity of knowing his students individually. This would enable him to give them the help they needed and also during the term, he could get an idea of the ability and knowledge of each one, which would make examinations, which are always so much a matter of chance, less important than they are in large colleges.

Miss Foster also pointed out that as small colleges are usually less expensive than large, they gave the benefits of a university education to many who could not afford to study at the larger colleges.

Miss Russel, the first speaker for the negative, showed the advantage which the larger financial resources of big universities gave them. They were, she said, able to procure the services of the most eminent scholars and the opportunity of studying under these great men was one of the greatest benefits which the college could give to its students. The superior equipment of laboratories and the immense libraries which large colleges alone could afford were, Miss Russel stated, most essential to students of the present day, and particularly those who were taking such subjects as science or medicine.

Miss Fair, the second speaker for the affirmative, explained the advantages which a small college offered in making it possible for students to know practically every one. The importance of every student in the life of his university when it was small, gave the students a greater sense of responsibility, which Miss Fair

'WHAT CANADA OWES
GREECE AND ROME'Prof. Williams Gives First
History Lecture

Yesterday afternoon, in the Convocation Hall of the R.V.C., the first of a series of extension lectures in history was given. Sir Arthur Currie, in the absence of the Chancellor, took the chair, and introduced the speaker of the afternoon—Professor Basil Williams, the head of the Dept. of History, whose subject was "What Canada Owes to Greece and Rome."

In opening his address Prof. Williams stated that the desire for knowledge is one of all mankind—an insistent question, and the real object of education, despite the fact that many regard it merely as a means of earning a livelihood, and of making money.

He said that the knowledge of Greek and Latin History is worthless unless it can give us a better idea of mankind, and how to solve life's problems; for instance, no modern literature can be compared to the Latin and Greek literature in its beauty and lucidity. Knowledge of this ancient history is indeed, an introduction to life.

From Rome and its growth, in spite of differences, we can learn a great deal in politics—though they were not troubled by the Representative Systems of Modern days. Their social problems were comparatively simple, and were worked out to a definite conclusion, which we can see, as though we were spectators at a play—and also we can estimate the characters of men. For instance, from Herodotus we learn of man behind his words, and the weakness of the state, and therefore may be better able to realize our own.

From the relations existing between the different Greek states we can find out how wars arise and how to present them. The Greeks and Romans have produced many great men—Herodotus, Plutarch, Cato—and these and many others have inspired the noblest of our race.

Not only in memoirs and histories has the true spirit of the age been apparent, but also in minor dramatists whose plays have illuminated the history of the day. Pride and joy in their race is observed in Vergil and Cicero, but soon a spirit of decadence is observed when Horace tells of the glories of the past.

Prof. Williams then brought out the more solemn note of the Doctrine of Retribution—a version of the modern saying—"pride comes before a fall"—the historians took on a note of impending doom, which was illustrated by the fall of Athens. This theory seems to be confirmed by facts throughout all known history. Greece and Rome have laid the foundations of all modern activities—our sciences, biology and theology, and the greatest service that their literature can give us lies in the interpretation of common humanity, for it strengthens and broadens our sympathies and its lessons can be applied to any age.

R.V.C. ASPIRE TO HONOURS IN BASKETBALL

a basketball game; this condition, however, has been greatly improved by plentifully sprinkling the floor with resin.

The trophy, so generously donated by the Students' Council last year, is nearly finished, and will be on view in Birk's window at the latter part of next week. It consists of a bronze statuette, standing about eighteen inches high and copied from a life-sized statue of a girl, which stands in front of the Dunfermlin School in Scotland. Dunfermlin is best known as the birth-place of the late Andrew Carnegie.

The R.V.C. team got a late start this year, because Sports Day did not take place until October 28th, hence the Inter-class games were hurried through during November and the first team practice took place the second week in December. It was too near the Christmas holiday and mid-term examinations to arrange any outside matches; but immediately after the opening of the second term a game was arranged with Macdonald.

thought made for better college spirit. Also, she continued, in a small college it was necessary that almost everyone should take part in the student activities and thus initiative was developed.

Miss Massy-Bayly, the last speaker for the negative, contended that college spirit depended on individuals, and in a large college more people who possessed this desirable quality were to be found. She also pointed out the advantages of having a large number of students from which to choose one's friends. In conclusion she stated that in a large university one was more likely to meet students from other parts of the world and belonging to different social classes and getting to know them would broaden the student's mind and thus remove the danger of provincialism which was too apt to be a characteristic of the small college.

After this Miss Foster refuted some of her opponents' arguments and briefly summarized those of her side.

Professor Latham gave the decision which he and his colleagues, Professor Carruthers and Miss MacGoun had unanimously reached, that though all had spoken well, the Seniors had proved the more successful debaters.

DOPE

by Phwysche

We wonder if Moison's Hall has been repaired, since we read that E. C. M. "tore up the floor with the ball."

And, has the basketball been removed since A. T. M. "nailed it on the jump?"

Advertisements in the "Daily" are so persuasively written, that we wonder if the Tuck Shop "Nuts" are any better than the other nuts around the University.

Visitor from Gyxmkil finds party split into thirty-seven factions. Where was the party?

Couéism appears to have taken R. V. C. by storm—all one hears now is "Every day and in every 'weigh' we are getting thinner and thinner."

Advt.—"Patronize the Bars!" With such "staggering" possibilities before one we question the need of the erection of "a free beer fountain within the University grounds."

Rumour has it that the R. V. C. '24 hockey team had contemplated turning out in a body to support the Conservative Party upon reading that they agitated a high board fence around the rink in the hollow, said team having lost one of its players the other night over the boards.

Are styles changing? Echoes from R. V. C. tell us that a Sophomore on her way out the other night was heard to ask, "Got my socks?" We also wonder if all-night parties are coming into vogue.

On Jan. 11th the R.V.C. team travelled to St. Anne de Bellevue, where they met a very good team who played up very well and won the day, as the R.V.C. team were not in good condition, and showed poor combination throughout the game.

Last Saturday, when R.V.C. played Y.W.C.A., the game was of a very different type. They had taken their defeat at the hands of Macdonald to heart, and the make-up of the team was considerably changed. Miss Slack returned to her old post as guard, and Miss Spier played shot. Miss Slack played guard on the Intercollegiate team last year, and is one of the best that R.V.C. has ever turned out. Miss R. Dumont was moved up from the second team, and acquitted herself admirably in her position as side-centre. Y. W. C. A. played very hard and several times it seemed as if they would forge ahead but the ball was steadily intercepted by the R.V.C. guards and centres, who brought it back to R.V.C. and again and again to victory.

The next match will take place between M.S.P.E. and R.V.C. in Convocation Hall on Saturday. The M. S. P. E. always put out a good team, and as the R.V.C. team has improved greatly since the beginning of the season, a very interesting game is anticipated. At present the R.V.C. team have every reason to entertain high hopes for the championship this year.

PROVES
POPULAR AFFAIR

Yesterday afternoon the second "Jazz Tea" of the session was held in the Cafeteria of the Union. This is the first affair of this kind since the new year, and the popularity of these functions is assured. The great improvement of the tea by the furnishing of music has left no doubt in the mind of anyone as to the future of this entertainment.

The McGill Mandolin Club Orchestra furnished the music, and provided a very fine programme. The orchestra consisted of seven pieces including banjo and xylophone. The latter is a novelty in the way of entertainment by the club and in the hands of Edgar Herring proved all that could be desired. The xylophone will doubtless only add to the popularity of a club which proved so successful in its theatrical engagement before the holidays.

Very great thanks is due the Mandolin Club for giving their services in this capacity. It is an indication of college spirit in that they give their services to help any university function. The aiding of any function of this kind helps to make the Union a centre for student activity.

The appreciation shown for these teas in the past is an indication of the hope that the one just past may not be the last of its kind, but that in the near future a similar attraction may be staged.

RULES CAREFULLY PLANNED FOR BJUT

Boxer and Wrestler to Meet Tomorrow

The interest in the eliminations of the B. V. and F. Club has always been keen at McGill. But this Saturday, in addition to the usual bouts, the Club has provided an extraordinary and unusual attraction.

At last, after years of discussion, this debatable question will be decided for all time as to who is more capable of self-defence—the boxer or the wrestler.

That genial champion of Beaver fame, the defender of our title in Intercollegiate circles, Brewer by name, will uphold the reputation of Jack Dempsey, against Montgomery follower of Strangler Lewis.

For the benefit of those who intend to witness this unique spectacle, the following novel rules may be of some use:

1.—Boxer not permitted to hit while on his feet.

2.—Wrestler permitted to hit at will, but not below the heel.

3.—Boxer scoring knockout will win.

4.—Wrestler scoring at all, men come to their senses after a few hours' rest.

5.—Boxer securing knockdown of five seconds' duration, gives a minute rest.

6.—Boxer will be declared winner after two showdowns.

7.—Wrestler will be declared winner after falling three times.

8.—Intercollegiate Boxing and Wrestling rules will govern the bout, with the exception of the boxer, who will be permitted to pinch in clinches but not while on the floor.

The elimination bouts in boxing and wrestling will also take place Saturday night, the entry list being posted in Molson Hall.

A large and appreciative audience is expected to be present at this, the first of the eliminations.

SHERARD WINS PROFICIENCY TRIAL

Science Leads in Interfaculty Ski Jumping

The Interfaculty trials in ski jumping and proficiency were held yesterday afternoon at the ski jump at Cote des Neiges. In spite of the rather poor condition of the ground for turning purposes, much good style was shown.

The proficiency tests, came first, consisting of right and left telmarks, right and left christians and an "S" turn. E. Sherrard showed particularly good style and finish in all the above tests and won first place. A. O. Leslie was also very good, winning second place, with R. Whittall third. Those also competing were P. Waite, P. Knowlton, F. Rutherford, Gravel, Smith, Seale and Cowan.

The exhibition of jumping was one of the best that has been shown, although the take-off was quite sticky. Eight of the above men took part and very few falls occurred. Rutherford hurt his knee in a trial jump and was unable to compete.

The results of the proficiency tests and the jumps were as follows:

Proficiency—1. E. A. Sherrard, Science. 2. A. O. Leslie, Science. 3. R. L. Whittall, Science.

Jumps out of possible 20 points—1. A. L. Gravel, Science, 18.125. 2. R. L. Whittall, Science, 18.05. 3. Phil Waite, Commerce, 17.9. 4. P. H. Knowlton, Commerce, 17.02. 5. E. A. Sherrard, 6. A. O. Leslie, 7. H. Smith.

In the Interfaculty competition Science led with 17 points, while Commerce gained one point. Messrs. N. O. Owens, Wm. Macklacher and D. R. Anderson very kindly acted as judges for the events.

Today at 5 p.m. ski and snowshoe races will be held at the Stadium. The best possible material is necessary to represent the college in the Eastern University Competition and it is hoped that every man will turn out this afternoon.

The ski cross-country will start from the Montreal Ski Club with the ski jumps at Cote des Neiges at 2:30 o'clock Saturday.

The snowshoe cross-country will start from the Stadium at 3 o'clock on Saturday; the dressing room at the Stadium will be open at that time.

UNION HOUSE FORMAL TO EXCEL IN GAYETY

Further particulars of the Union House dance, which takes place next Friday, were forthcoming to-day.

The orchestra will number seven—including the famous Adney, whose melody will proceed on this occasion from a Baby Grand. The programme is composed of fourteen dances and three extra, with many popular selections and the usual sprinkling of old favourites. A singer accompanies the orchestra, so that vocal talent will not be missing in the musical arrangements. Two special dances with balloons and streamers arranged for the general merriment.

Admission will be on sale on Friday at 10 p.m. The ticket price is 10 cents.

serious reflections on the character of every person connected with the Government. The Opposition immediately contended that it was an outrageous abuse of power to arrest said Ivan Buniovitch-alien. They then requested that the wife and children of the accused be admitted. The counsel for the accused, on the admission of said persons, refused to act and a new counsel was then sworn in.

The second counsel immediately proceeded with a proof of the calumnious statement against the Government as read by the clerk of the House.

The counsel being heard to the end, the Prime Minister then stated that the explanation was quite unsatisfactory; the counsel for the accused making statements that were "absolute piffle." He thereupon moved a bill for the punishment of this person, said bill to be read a second time.

The prisoner and his progeny together with the counsel then withdrew from the House.

The bill as put forth by the Government stated to the effect that whereas Ivan Buniovitch, of Montreal, occupation unknown, did on January 20th launch seditious charges against the honorable members of His Majesty's Government, the counsel for the accused having failed to prove those charges, His Majesty's Government therefore declares and acts that Ivan Buniovitch be imprisoned in the Common Room of the Royal Victoria College. Should the accused survive his term of sentence he is to be sent to Russia; if however at any time during his imprisonment the prisoner should desire to be shot the Prime Minister may have his request carried out. This bill the Speaker requested should be inscribed and laid before the clerk of the House.

The Prime Minister then continued that though it might be thought autocratic for the Government to bring this man to trial yet in so doing they, the Government, were upholding the honor and dignity of the Parliament of McGill University. The accused having failed to substantiate his charges, is therefore subject to the contempt of the Government.

After several interruptions the Premier continued: "We are here to exterminate such of his tribe as contaminate the mind and sow seeds of this type. It is true that we provide a terrible punishment for this individual; yet let us not forget what would have happened had the counsel succeeded—we should see the streets running with blood, the man gloating over our slain bodies, plundering our homes and murdering our dear ones. When the time comes to consider the fate of this man, let the House remember that he has dragged its unsullied honor in the mire. Shall this be permitted? We shall answer NO. Were we to do otherwise our Government would be but a mockery."

The Minister of Justice then arose and emphasized the right of the Government to act in this way. "This man," said he, "has cast aspersions on the honorable name of this house also. He is unused to a country where there is such freedom. Therefore we have this right. I will not bring before the house the decisions reached before on this same point. It is in our British North America Act, Sect. 18. In seconding the motion of the honorable Prime Minister, I remind the members of this House that the dignity of the House and its honor rest in their hands. If we do not punish this man, the storm of all the ages will come down upon us; all will be against us. It is our sacred duty as lovers of this our country."

A prominent member of the Opposition then had the floor. He said that in spite of the terrible guilt of Ivan Buniovitch, he would wish to appeal to the Government for clemency. "As I look into the eyes of our Prime Minister," he said, "his kindly expression, and benevolent demeanor, I cannot think he can possess such a cruel, hard heart. Is it right for the Government to take advantage of this ignorant man just come to us? Is it right that such an awful punishment be meted out to him, namely, that he be incarcerated in the Common Room of the Royal Victoria College? I plead to His Majesty's Government, that instead of this terrible punishment, his sentence should be made lighter. I therefore move that the prisoner be appointed as stenographer to the Principal of the Royal Victoria College for a period of five years."

Another member of the Opposition then addressed the House. The honorable member said he had just returned from Russia, and since his return had been in touch by radio with the authorities there. As a result of his communication he had discovered that the prisoner had escaped from a lunatic asylum there, and was therefore not responsible for his actions. "As a proof of this," said the honorable member, "all we have to do is look at the charges he makes against the Government. For instance he charges the Government with knowing something about Auntie Currie's murder. Actually accuses the Government of knowing something about this. This is the first time I ever heard the Government accused of knowing anything at all about anything. I therefore second my colleague's amendment that the prisoner be sentenced to act as stenographer to the Principal of the Royal Victoria College."

After conclusion of this speech the Speaker asked the leader of the Opposition to inscribe this amendment.

Amid great applause from the members of his party, the leader of the Conservative party held the floor. He said he had heard the bill moved by the Prime Minister and the amendment made by the Opposition, but as far as he and his fellow-members could see, the action of the Government in bringing this person before the House was absolutely unwarranted. To him the Government had no right to take up so much important time on this. The honorable leader of this party also said that he had been behind the interpreter, and that the discourse between the two, chiefly consisted of signs. This to him seemed distinctly suspicious. He also felt that the Government was not absolutely guiltless. (Protest from the Minister of Justice here.) The honorable leader concluded by moving a sub-amendment, namely, that the prisoner be deported to his native land. Another member of the Conservative Party rose to support this, when he was interrupted by an announcement that the prisoner had escaped. The honorable member said he felt that the Department of Justice should be censured for this, and concluded by seconding this sub-amendment.

The leader of His Majesty's loyal Opposition then addressed the House. After referring to the unseemly behavior on the part of some of the members of the Conservative party, he said that when the Opposition came to the House it had intended to oppose the Government. Perhaps the punishment moved by the Government is a little hard but it might be worse," said the honorable leader, "and we intend to support it. (Loud cheers from the Government.) We see by this morning's "Daily" many things from this new Conservative party, chief of which is the proposal that the "Hollow" risk should be boarded in. This would be a great blow to us all. Therefore I should like to withdraw the amendment and support His Majesty's Government."

There was much discussion after this speech and many members from the three parties expressed their views rather heatedly. One member of the Conservative party not realizing that the sub-amendment was automatically withdrawn with the amendment, had a great deal of criticism thrown on him on making the statement that the amendment to be discussed was whether the prisoner should be deported or no. This honorable member was told that he did not know what he was talking about, and to sit down. More heated discussions took place after this until the Speaker once more called the House to order and took a vote to find out whether the House was in favour of voting on the question. The decision was in the affirmative.

The Prime Minister suggested that voting take place at the doors. This suggestion met with the approval of the Speaker, who requested the members in favor of the Bill to pass through the far door and those against to go out by the near door, after scrutineers had been appointed. Voting then took place. It was found out afterwards that the Government was still in power, the votes registered by the Government and Progressives being 135, while the number registered by the Conservative Party was 102.

P. C. TOBOGGAN PARTY A SUCCESSFUL EVENT

For the second time this week, old and decrepit volumes were discarded, this time for the annual toboggan party.

After sundry incidents, such as a hurried last-minute search for moccasins which had been found useful by someone else, there was a period of comparative quiet while fair ones were sought for to help one forget "that 50 pages of Gide."

Then increased excitement as the party assembled preparatory to starting for the mountain. Here the necessary introductions were made, and the party started off, about seven strong.

Then did a period of quiet such as the bookworms had never enjoyed descend upon the halls of the college. Alas! 'twas too short, for, after a glorious two hours spent on the mountain, the party returned, amid great jollity.

Just before the party left, Cousens read a letter from a prominent member of the Opposition, containing a strong appeal for support; and this coupled with Cousens' words, had this effect, that the entire party hied them, be so eating, to the Union as a delegation from the North-West Territories to give the Opposition some much-needed support. Their appearance caused some slight excitement, but order was soon restored and the business of the evening was carried on. When the vote was counted, it was found that the Opposition had been returned by a considerable majority, due no doubt to the delegation from the N. W. Territories.

After this, the party returned to the P. C., where an excellent repast was indulged in, followed by adjournment to the Common Room, where an orchestra awaited them. After several numbers, the party broke up with Anthem and McGill yell. Great praise is due to Mrs. Williams and Mr. Cousens and committee for the efficient way in which the party was carried to a successful conclusion.

COM. '25 SUCCUMBS TO ATTACK OF DENTS. '26

Dents '26 won from Commerce '25 a decisive victory in basketball yesterday, by a score of 23-14. The game was fast and clean throughout, Commerce showing some good combination, while Dents had an excellent defence. Both teams were weak in their shooting, especially in their free shots. Although there were several fouls neither team gained much by them. From the very start the Dents were ahead. At half-time the score stood at 12-6 in their favour. In the second period, both teams fought hard and each goal was strongly contested. But the victory was clearly for Dents, and when the whistle blew the score read 23-14 for them. The stars on the winning team were the forwards Watson and Star. For Commerce Kenrick and Punde played a fine game. The line-ups were as follows:

|---------------|-------------|
| Commerce '25. | Dents '26. |
| Forwards. | Forwards. |
| Punde | Watson |
| Breithaupt | Star |
